

Terms of Reference

GDHP Terms of Reference finalized in February 2023

About the Global Digital Health Partnership

The Global Digital Health Partnership (GDHP) is a collaboration of digital health leaders from countries, territories, the World Health Organization, and international organizations, which supports high quality, sustainable health and care for all through best use of digital services.

Established in February 2018, the GDHP is an international platform for global collaboration and evidence sharing to guide the design and implementation of digital health services and improve health and wellbeing around the world.